TRUSTEE FULLY JUSTIFIES THE DISMISSAL OF PROF. NEARING

Instructor in Economics at University of Pennsylvania Alleged to Have Taught Harmful Theories.

PERSECUTION CHARGE HAS NO FOUNDATION

Doctrines Promulgated Regarded as Subversive of Organized Society; Discourteous Toward Educators.

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADED WIRE
Philadelphia, Oct. 2.—Dr. William White, a trustee of the University of Pennsylvania, made public tonight an open letter to the alumni of their institution advising the action taken by the trustees in re-encoding Dr. Nearing after his term had expired. Dr. Nearing was an associate professor of economics.

The action of the board provoked criticism among alumni and others, it being charged that Dr. Nearing had been dismissed because of certain economic views and that the attitude of the board tended to restrict free speech among the teaching staff.

Dr. White, who was on American hospital duty in France when the action was taken says he would have voted not to know Dr. Nearing's relations. He says he is in general sympathetic with the school of economists in which Dr. Nearing belongs, and that he would not object to their views being set forth as part of a systematic exposition of one side of an important scheme.

Dr. Nearing's Teachings.

Dr. White says that some time ago he found that opinions and theories which require for their proper understanding a careful legal reasoning and an analysis of a number of related parts and theories were held by Dr. Nearing before he came—not of university students—who were quite unaccustomed to discuss or appreciate them. He found that persons had "received from Dr. Nearing the strong impression that he advocated the ruthless redistribution of property; that he believed in the personal moral of those who lived an income derived even from their own savings; that he thought the alternative of work or starvation should be presented even to the old, the feeble and the diseased."

Possible Misunderstanding.

Dr. White says he thinks Dr. Nearing was misinformed but that nevertheless persons whose good will and respect for the university were important were so positive that those who had meetings and were so affected by them that they said these could not be their boys be exposed to such imputations.

Dr. Nearing, the writer states, was asked if he could not lessen this growing feeling by a better adaptation of his arguments to the understanding of his audience, but he failed to comply with the request.

Incidents multiplied as years went on. Dr. White says, attacked the Carnegie Endowment Fund and said the representatives of private wealth had "got the old fellows," meaning that they owned or controlled the persons who always were accepting or soon would accept pensions. These statements, Dr. White said, reflected on the mental or moral integrity of many of the most highly educated members of the most highly educated class in this country."

With reference to the condemnation of the action of the board, Dr. White says it has been based more on a misunderstanding of the situation.

"Nothing could be more inaccurate or further from the truth," the letter says, "than the assumption that the action in the Nearing case was part of a concerted plan to carry out a reactionary policy against free academic discussion and freedom of individual speech."

CHINESE SOLONS WILL BE CHOSEN NEXT YEAR

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADED WIRE
PEKING, Oct. 2.—Nowhere indicates that the election laws recently promulgated by President Yuan Shih-kai call for the election of a lower house of the Chinese legislative body by September 1 of this year, it has been decided to defer the election until another year. Under present conditions the president thought it in advisable to leave the lower house of congress and has notified the members of the Tuan Ching Yuan that they will continue to act for the Kuang Yuen—so the lower house is to be called.

The Tuan Ching Yuan is an appointed body rather than an elected body, designated as the House of Representatives of the United States. At least it was originally intended that this body should have much the same functions as the upper house of congress in America, but under changed conditions brought about by alleged plots among members of the Chinese congress, the president dissolved congress and reorganized the government on a basis which he regarded as better suited to Chinese conditions.

Under the new arrangement, the Tuan Ching Yuan is a sort of unicameral which satisfies the executive orders and stands as a substitute for the bicameral organization which the president promised to the country later.

The members of the senate or state council have been advised that they will resume sessions in September and continue indefinitely to perform their own duties as well as those of the lower house of congress.
